

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Genealogical researches are not a favorite pursuit with many persons. Yet the information derived from them is gratifying to all, and they are not few, that desire a knowledge of their ancestors and collateral kindred; but in general have not the opportunity, without the aid of others, to acquire it beyond two generations.

The results of such researches are likewise gratifying to the genealogist; not more for the information he thereby obtains for himself, than as furnishing him materials wherewith to oblige and gratify others. We think he feels no ordinary gratification, who obtains a record of his family race from a remote period to his own time; one that he can consult and refer to at his own leisure and at his own fireside, and at length leave to his children as a MESSENGER, that would introduce to them, as it had to him, numerous ancestors and kindred they never saw, or had heard of before; but with whom they might commune with joy, yet not without sadness; for although long since departed, they yet speak—speak through RECORD and tell of olden times; of when and where they lived; of their cotemporaries; of their trials, and of the names of their children; all past away, and, with many they once knew, forgotten.

How many reminiscences of individual and family incidents will be thus called up, that had come down from generation to generation, and become lost through failure of memory and lapse of time! Family tradition, thus revived, if it do not prolong life, may serve to make it more social in family circles and less wearisome to solitary and aged individuals. While the desire one has for a knowledge of his ancestors is common to all ; there are some who do not appear ever to have felt it. A greater degree of interest on the subject has prevailed throughout New England the last twenty years, than during the whole previous period since its settlement, and is rapidly increasing ; stimulated, no doubt, in part by John Farmer's publication in 1829 of the names, &c., of many of the first settlers of New England. He belonged to New Hampshire, and was a genealogical pioneer in the New England States—family gatherings have added to that interest, but its great patron has been, as it yet is, the "New England Historical and Genealogical Society," located in Boston ; eleven volumes of whose publications are now before the public. The pedigrees of several families have been traced and published ; others are being so, and, in number, to an extent that justifies a belief, that the time is coming, when a library will not be considered properly furnished, unless it contains a history of the family to which it belongs. A family pedigree cannot be traced satisfactorily through a long period without a knowledge of the names, births, marriages and deaths of its progenitors ; nor fully without information of all its individual members, whether progenitors or not. Births and deaths are the boundaries of man's earthly pilgrimage—the termini of every individual's lease of life upon earth ; and unless recorded, (and the record preserved) are, after a length of time, known only by tradition ; and eventually even that varying rumor dies also—so that his very name, the last that memory retains of him, fails among men, and he that was becomes as unknown, and past finding out, as if he had never lived.

This work comprises the genealogy of a succession of families, numbering at least 1400, and containing the names of about 7000 individuals having one common ancestor in the person of Edmund Rice. Of his pedigree, we have no information, nor have we any in regard to him prior to the year 1627, when he with his family was living at Berkhamstead, in the County of Hertfordshire in England ; he continued to live there several years and came to America as early as 1638. His christian name in our public records of his day is generally spelt Edmond; so far as we have discovered, he did not so spell it himself; papers on the court files at Cambridge have his signature, Edmund; and so it was written at Berkhamstead. He was the progenitor of a numerous and prolific race. So manfully have his descendants borne up his name in the land of his adoption, that, if any fears were ever entertained, that in time it would die out, they have been long since and forever put to rest.

The name of Rice is of Welsh origin, and in Wales was written and spoken with the prefix, Ap.—ApRice—but not so in England nor in this country.

TO THE DESCENDANTS OF EDMUND RICE.

Having compiled, from materials I had collected, a genealogical history of your family race, so far as contained in the following pages, and in so doing realized the satisfaction sought and anticipated therefrom, I placed a manuscript copy of it at the disposal of some of your brethren, for the common benefit of all. It has been published by their direction. No name is more frequently met with on the rolls of those, that have, from time to time in New England, entered the public service in defence of their country, than that of RICE; the individuals of which, in most instances, could be traced to your family. Branches of it are now in all parts of the land. Those living very remote from the "Homestead," whence the dispersion of the race began, cannot, in the nature of things, possess much knowledge of their ancestry, and perhaps have, for townsmen and neighbors, relatives that are unknown to them as such. Composing as you do the family that has been made the subject of that history, you will naturally read it with considerable interest, and no doubt rightly appreciate the motives that led to its production and excuse its imperfections. In the mean time I shall be a partaker in the satisfaction you and others may derive from it, or from any other source, that will extend among men a better knowledge of themselves by making them acquainted with the rounds of the ladder down which they came.

ANDREW H. WARD.

West Newton, Mass., Dec. 22, 1857.

EXPLANATION.

The figures in the first left hand column denote each individual's number in the whole number of individuals traced. Those in the second column, the number of children in the family.

The figures in circumflex, in the right hand column, denote that the individual, against whose name they stand, is further noticed on a subsequent page; they also denote the particular number of his family in the whole number of families traced. He may be found, at the head of his family, by corresponding figures on the left hand of his name in the succeeding generation.

The figures in brackets, following the name of the husband or wife, correspond with his or her number in the whole number traced, and to his or her number in the family to which they respectively belong.

PUBLICATION.

The circumstances under which this family history is published, are briefly these: For several years past, the descendants of Edmond Rice have been accustomed to meet annually at the old homestead, still in the possession of one of them, in Wayland, formerly a part of Sudbury. These gatherings, chiefly of a social character, have been attended not only by members of the family residing in the immediate vicinity, but by many from remote places; and the interest manifested in them has increased from year to year.

At the meeting in August, 1856, Hon. Andrew H. Ward, of West Newton, was present, and stated that while pursuing his genealogical investigations in another direction, and with reference to another family, he had found occasion to refer, incidentally, to the descendants of Edmond Rice, and at length, becoming interested in the matter, he had devoted himself for some years to the preparation of a complete genealogy of the Rice family. He then gratuitously tendered his manuscripts for publication. The generous offer was of course at once accepted, with thanks to the donor, and the undersigned were chosen a committee of publication. No condition was annexed to the gift, except that the publication should be made in the life-time of Mr. Ward, and he be allowed its supervision. This has accordingly been done; and he now presents the result of his labors in a form which shows how much time, patient industry, and untiring research he has disinterestedly devoted to the work. We feel assured that, from its completeness, accuracy, and convenient arrangement, it will be found to be an important addition to our genealogical literature; and that with every member of the Rice family it will possess a peculiar value and interest, and the name of the author held in ever grateful remembrance.

INTRODUCTION.

EDMUND RICE came from Barkhamstead, in the county of Hertfordshire, in England, and settled in Sudbury, Mass., in 1638 or 9 ; as he shared in the three divisions of land in Sudbury, the first of which was made in 1639, he was no doubt residing there at that time.

No record has been found of his embarkation for this country, nor in what ship he came, or at what place he first arrived ; there is not so much as tradition on the subject. The first we find of him is at Sudbury, with a wife and family of at least seven children that came over with him ; that place, called "the plantation lying near unto Concord," was incorporated in 1639 by the name of Sudbury. His residence was on the east side of Sudbury river, in the southerly part of what is now Wayland, and near the border of the extensive meadows through which that river flows in a northeasterly course to the Merrimac.

He was Selectman in 1644, and subsequent years ; Dea. of the chh. 1648, and, in 1656, one of thirteen petitioners belonging to Sudbury, who besought the General Court for a new plantation, saying, "Whereas your petitioners have lived divers years in Sudbury, and God hath been pleased to increase our children, which are now, divers of them, grown to man's estate, and wee, many of us grown into years, so as that wee should bee glad to see them settled before the Lord take us away from hence ; as also God having given us some considerable quantity of cattle, so that wee are so straightened, that wee cannot so comfortably subsist as could be desired ; and some of us having taken some pains to view the country, wee have found a place, which lieth Westward about eight miles from Sudbury, which wee conceive might bee comfortable for our subsistence," &c.

Sudbury at that time contained less than seventy-five families, and in territory included what is now Wayland. One would naturally think they were "straightened" for the want of neighbors, rather than for want of room for themselves, or meadows wherefrom to procure subsistence for their cattle; and so they found it, even twenty years later, when the town, with an increased population, was broken up and nearly destroyed by the Indians. Their petition was granted, and the plantation laid to them was incorporated by the name of Marlborough in 1660; whereto he removed and had a house lot of fifty acres granted to him by the proprietors of that town, with the rights appertaining thereto in after divisions.

His wife "Tamazine" died at Sudbury, June 13, 1654; the record of her death is the only one wherein her name has been found.

His 2d wife was "Mercie," wid. of Thomas Brigham of Cambridge; whom he married, March 1, 1655. His house lot in Marlboro', on which he built and resided, was in the westerly part of the town, on the old county road leading from Marlboro' to Northboro', and in the bend as it passes round the northerly side of the pond, a short distance northerly of the ancient "Williams tavern," afterwards kept by Gates and since by Wetherby. He was intrusted with various important duties by the General Court, which he discharged with a fidelity that occasioned repeated calls for his services, while the records of Sudbury and Marlboro' contain ample evidence of his vigilant and fatherly care in promoting the welfare of those infant settlements; the destruction of which by the Indians, occurring a few years after, he was not permitted to see by reason of death.

He died at Marlboro', May 3, 1663, and was buried at Sudbury. A deposition of his on the court files at Cambridge states his age, April 3, 1656, to be "about 62 years"—hence he was born about 1594, and about 69 years old when he died.

Inventory of Edmund Rice of Marlboro', taken May 15, 1663, by Thomas King, John Woods and John Stone, £566.0.0. House, &c., £170.

Thomas King of Sud. was one of the petitioners for Marl.; John Woods was of Marl., and d. there 1678; John Stone was then of Sud. afterwards of Cambridge, and d. 1683. Inventory says, "due by bill from Mathew, Benjamin and Thomas Rice," [they were sons of the deceased,] "from William Brown," [he was of Sud., deacon and brother-in-law of deceased,] "from Benjamin Crane, John How," [J. How was then of Marl., for which he was a petitioner, and d. 1689,] "from Robert Wilson," [prob. of Cambridge,] "from Thomas Brigham," [step-son of the deceased, and of Marl.,] "from Jonathan and Samuel Hide," (Hyde) [they were of Newton, brothers, and d. there; Dea. Samuel, b. 1610, d. 1689; Jonathan, b. 1626, d. 1711.]

By another paper in the Probate Office, it appears that an inventory, amounting to £743.8.4, was taken of the estate of Edmund Rice, "who died intestate," by William Ward, Thomas Loring, John Woods and John Stone, May 15, 1663.

The two first of these are not named among those who took the first mentioned inventory, and one that is there named is omitted here. As both inventories bear the same date, and as he left property in Sudbury and Marlboro,' it may be that of those who took them some of them inventoried what he left in Sud., the others what he left in Marl., and that their doings were consolidated in one return, and that their several original papers were left in the Probate Office. His widow Mercy, as admx., settled his estate.

William Ward and Thomas Loring were of Sudbury, 1656, and were petitioners for Marl. The former, b. about 1603, removed to Marl. 1660, was deacon of the church there, and d. 1687.

How the estate of Edmund Rice was distributed among the heirs does not appear; there is some evidence tending to show that he left a will; none has been found; it may have been imperfect and never lodged for probate. Proposals for a division of his estate, but crossed over, are contained on a paper, whereby the division was to consist of 12 parts, the widow to have 3. Another paper is found in which other proposals than those "crossed over" were made, for a division, by which the widow was to pay to the "eight eldest children," viz., to the eldest, £40; to each of the others, £20; and to the two youngest, being children by the widow, £10 each.

His widow Mercy m. William Hunt of Marlboro', "Oct. or Nov." 1664; an early settler in Concord, where he had children, 1640, and wife, Elizabeth, who d. there, Dec. 27, 1661. He d. at Marlboro', Oct. 1667, and his widow Mercy, Dec. 28, 1693; having survived her first husband, Thomas Brigham, 40 years, who was the progenitor of the New England Brighams. Tradition says her family name was Hunt.

Having no data for a guide in arranging the children of Edmund Rice, that came over with him, they perhaps are not named in the order of their births. They and their descendants here follow, preceded by their pilgrim ancestor and patriarch, standing No. 1, at the head of his race.

Towns and places herein mentioned, when not otherwise designated, are in Massachusetts.

The Boston Gazette, of Dec. 26, 1768, contains a communication on the subject of the longevity of his children, in which it is said he d. "at the age of 70 years;" consequently, born about 1611. That his "age was 70 years" is manifestly an error, as it makes him only 17 years younger than his father, and about 43 years old before he had a family, neither of which is probable. Further notice of the publication in the Gazette will be taken when we come to speak of his children under their respective family heads.

- (6) II. SAMUEL RICE [6.5], was 32 years old May 2, 1666, according to his testimony on the court files at Cambridge. He m. Elizabeth King, Nov. 8, 1655, and resided at Sud. and Marl.; she d. at S., and was buried Oct. 30, 1667.

* No record of her marriage has been found. She was dismissed from the chh. of Marl. to that of Concord, Feb. 16, 1682. William Adams had at Concord, (wife not mentioned,) Elizabeth, Aug. 6, 1680; Mary, March 1, 1682-3; Frances, May 21, 1685. If Sarah Rice was their mother, she was the 2d wife of William Adams, and m. between 1676 and 1680. He had two chil. at Sud., viz: James, March 31, 1674, and John, March 8, 1675-6, by wife Elizabeth. He next appears at Concord, where there is no further record of him than is here mentioned.

RICE FAMILY.

His 2d wife was Mary ⁵²⁴ Brown whom he m. at Sud., Sept. 1668. Concord records say she d. June 18, 1678—should be 1675, instead of 1678. They had probably retired to Concord for a season as a place of refuge from the Indian enemy.

His 3d wife was Sarah, widow of James Hosmer, Jr. of Concord, whom he m. Dec. 13, 1676. He d. at Marl., Feb. 25, 1684-5, aged about 51. The births of his four eldest chil. are on Sud. records; the births of the others are found at Marl., with the exception of that of the youngest, which is at Concord.

56. 1 Elizabeth, Oct. 26, 1656, m. Peter Haynes. (45)
57. 2 Hannah, ———, 1658, m. Jonathan Hubbard. (46)

65. 10 Joseph, May 16, 1678, prob. the Joseph Rice who m. Mary Townsend, at Boston, June 25, 1701.

The family name of his 2d wife, Mary, was Dix. She was the widow of Abraham Brown of Watertown. He m. her, Feb. 5, 1662. He was b. 1639, son of Abraham and Lydia Brown, and d. 1667, leaving a son, Abraham, who d. at Marl. May, 1678, aged 13, and in the record of his death is called son-in-law of Samuel Rice.

The testimony of Thomas Fleg (Flagg) of Watertown, 1679, on court files, is, that "Samuel Rice m. Mary, widow of Abraham Brown, about one year after Brown's death; and that she lived with him seven years, and then she died."

The family name of his 3d wife, Sarah, was White. She m. James Hosmer, Jr. (son of James Hosmer of Concord) Oct. 13, 1658. He was killed by the Indians at "Sudbury fight" in the spring of 1676.

"Samuel Rice and Stephen Hosmer motion to court, 1667, that James Hosmer, Jr. of Concord, being slayne by Indians, and said Rice having m. his widow, that his estate may be settled." James Hosmer, Sen. came from Kent, Eng., and was one of the first settlers of Concord, where he d. Feb. 7, 1685.

The will of Samuel Rice, Feb. 10, 1684, proved April 7, 1685, gave to wife Sarah, to sons Joshua and Edmund, to daus. Elizabeth Haynes, Hannah Hubbard and Esther Hubbard, to my son Samuel Rice, whom I have given to brother and sister King for their own, to sons Edward and Joseph, and 2 daus., Mary and Abigail Rice, under 18. His brothers Edward and Joseph Rice were overseers of his will. Inventory £349.2.6. March 6, 1685.

- (7) II. JOSEPH RICE [7.6] m. Mercy King, at Sudbury, May 4, 1658. She probably d. soon after. His 2d wife, Martha, d. at Marl. Jan. 4, 1668-9. His 3d wife was Mary Beers of Watertown, whom he m. 1670. She d. there, May 13, 1677, aged 34. He was no doubt temporarily residing there, in consequence of the destruction of Marl. by the Indians in 1676. His 4th wife was Sarah, by whom he had two children at Watertown, and one, the youngest, at Marl., after his return.

His brother, Samuel Rice, appointed him one of the overseers of his will, Feb. 10, 1684, which is the latest record of him that has been found.

It is not improbable his last wife was Sarah Wheeler, as Isaac Wheeler, about 1682, chose his father-in-law, Joseph Rice, for his guardian. Seven of the above named children have their births on Marl. records.

- (8) II. HUGH DRURY m. Lydia Rice [8.7], and resided at Sud. and Boston. He was a member of the Artillery Company 1659, and subsequently its Lt. His wife, Lydia, d. April 5, 1675, "aged 47." - (9) II. EDMUND RICE, [9.8] no record of his ever having m., or of his residence, or death, or settlement of any estate ever belonging to him, has been discovered.

The following appears in Mid. Prob. Records:—

Edmund Rice, Sudbury—Inventory, April 27, 1714, £108.

13. 4—42½ acres at Haynes neck.

9 acres 124 rods near W. side Goodman's Mill.

32½ acres at ye Allowance.

10 acres at Ashen swamp near Mr. Graves's.

Mathew Rice and Isaac Rice, Admrs., Apl. 12, 1714.

Receipts of chil. and Gr. chil. of Edmund Rice—viz., Jonathan Rice; John Rice; Thomas Drury; Peter Haynes; Thomas Brintnal, Atty. for Phineas Rice, Ebenezer Rice, Gershom and James Rice.

Mathew Rice, one of the admrs., was the only surviving son, in 1714, of Edmund, Sen.; and Isaac Rice, the other admr., was son of Mathew; and all those receipting were gr. chil. of Edmund Rice, Sen. Those lands probably accrued from rights in lands in which Edmund Rice, Sen., had an interest, but undivided in his life-time.

- (10) II. BENJAMIN RICE, [10.9] m. Mary Brown, of Sudbury, about 1662, and resided there. She was the dau. of William and Mary (Besbeth) Brown, of Sudbury; whose will, May, 1676, gave "to dau. Mary, wife of Benjamin Rice, and her son, Benjamin Rice." The will of Thomas Besbeth, of Sudbury, Mar. 21, 1672, gave "to Mary, wife of Benjamin Rice, dau. of my dau. Mary."

May 23, 1685, Benjamin Rice, of Sudbury, sued Dr. William Avery, of Boston, for malpractice. Verdict for defendant. In that suit, Daniel Pond testified that, "ten years ago, Benjamin Rice, of Sudbury, came to my house, in Dedham, with his feet frozen, and lodged there. Dr. William Avery's son, Benjamin, cut off one foot at the lowest joint, and stanced the blood with a musquash skin." Dr. William Avery does not appear, by the evidence in the case, to have been present at the operation. The malpractice, if any, was therefore not chargeable to him, but to his son, Benjamin;—hence the verdict. Mary, wife of Benjamin Rice, d. Jan 3, 1690—1. He d. at Sudbury, Dec. 19, 1713, in his 74th year—his only child,

77. 1 Ebenezer, May 1, 1671, m. Bethiah Williams. (61)

- (11) II. SAMUEL WELLS m. Ruth Rice [11.10] They were residing at Weathersfield, Ct., 1684. On the first day of June, in that year, "Samuel Wells, yeoman of the towne of Weathersfield, in the Counte of Hartford, in the Colonie of Quinisticqet, in New England, in consideration of thirty-five pounds, paid by Eleazer How, Carpenter, of the town of Marlboro', in the Countie of Middlesex, &c., sold and conveyed to said Eleazer How, a parcel of upland or House lot of about 12½ acres, lying within the bounds of the town of Marlboro'; which 12½ acres is a quarter part of a House lot given and granted by the town of Marl. aforesaid to Mr. Edmund Rice, my wife's father, and by him willed to her—his whole Homestead or Houselot being fiftie acres—this 12½ or quarter part of fivetie, as it is now divided, is bounded by Samuel Brigham, and is now by me, Samuel Wells, with the free and full consent of Ruth Wells, my wife, sold unto said Eleazer How. In witness whereof, I, the said Samuel Wells, and Ruth Wells, my wife, have put our hands and seals, this twenty-first day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand six hundredeth Eightie and four.

MARK.

The above deed was acknowledged by Mr. Samuel Wells and Mrs. Ruth Wells to be their voluntary Deed, before me, Weathersfield, Oct. 28, 1686." SAMⁿ TALCOT, Asst.

After considerable progress had been made in this compilation, I was favored, by Mr. Boutwell of Woburn, with the following extracts from the Parish Registry of Barkhamstead, in the county of Hertfordshire, England:—

"Baptized, 1627, Mar. 9, Lydia, daughter of Edmund Rice.

" 1629, Feb. 28, Mathew, son of Edmund Rice.

" 1632, Nov. 1, Daniel, son of Edmund Rice.

" 1634, Nov. 12, Samuel, son of Edmund Rice.

" 1637, Mar. 13, Joseph, son of Edmund Rice.

Buried, 1632, Nov. 10, Daniel, son of Edmund Rice."

The three elder children of Edmund Rice are not found in the Registry at Barkhamstead; they probably came to that place with their parents, but where from, unknown.

* His father, "Thomas Brigham, embarked in the Susan and Ellen, Apl., 1635, then aged 32." [Bond, page 706.] The earliest record we find of him in this country is in Cambridge, 1644, with a wife Mercie; where, of his five children, the births of the three youngest are recorded; and where he d. Dec. 8, 1653, aged about 50 years. His will, dated the day preceding his death, and proved Oct. 3, 1654, mentions his chil. in the following order: Thomas, Mary, (no record found of their births,) John, (b. Mar. 9, 1644,) Hannah, (Mar. 9, 1650,) Samuel, (Jan. 12, 1652.) Tradition says the family name of his wife was Hunt, and that he settled at Sudbury. Neither the records of that town, nor those of Middlesex County, furnish any evidence of his ever having resided in that town. It is probable he m. after his arrival here, and had two chil. b. elsewhere than at Cambridge, where he resided, bounding on Watertown line, near Charles River.

Tamasin, wife of B. Parmenter, survived her husband and was 76 years of age at the time of his death. He was at Hadley, 26th Sept. 1676, having been impressed into the service against the Indians—at which time the Rev. Edmund Brown of Sud. wrote "to his Honor, John Leverett, Governor of ye Massachusetts Colony," with an earnest prayer for the release and return of Benjamin Parminter, "to whose friends I spoke to get him to be one in my house for a guard, to fortify which I have been at a round charge."

"He was a faithful and vigilant officer, and remained in the service beyond his engagement, at the pressing instance of Gen. McDougall, who begged him to accept his thanks for his services—he resided at Grafton for several years subsequent to 1786, and represented that town in the General Court.

"He sold his mill, public house and farm at Grafton, and removed to Marl., where he d. April 1, 1811, in his 74th year; and, as he requested, was buried among the graves of his relatives and friends in the place of his nativity."

He was of middle stature, firmly built, plump, but not incumbered with flesh; less withered than multitudes at seventy; possessed of considerable strength, as was evident from the grasp of his hand and the sound of his voice, and without any marks of extreme age.

"About two months before, his sight became so impaired, that he was unable to distinguish persons; his hearing, also, for a short time had been so imperfect, that he could not distinctly hear common conversation.

"His memory was still vigorous, his understanding sound, and his mind sprightly in its conceptions.

"The principal part of the time, which I was in the house, he held me by the hand, cheerfully answered all my questions, readily gave me an account of himself in such particulars as I wished to know; observed to me, that my voice indicated, that I was Mercy Rice, [22.10] and resided at Watertown, Sud., Hopkinton, and last at Shrewsbury, where he was ad. to the chh. from that in Hop. 1730. His wife, Mercy, d. at Hopkinton, 1727, aged 57. He d. at Shrews. "On Oct. 1, 1735, while standing on the hinder end of a cart load of stalks, his oxen started, whereby he fell off and was killed in his 69th year."—Boston Newspaper.

He was son of Daniel (d. Sud. 1706) and Mary (Sherman) Allen; son of Walter (freeman 1640) and Rebecca Allen of Newbury, Watertown, 1662, and d. at Charlestown 1681.

not less than forty-five years of age, and that he must appear very old to me; adding, however, that some men, who had not passed their seventieth year, probably looked almost or quite as old as himself.

"We were informed partly by himself, and partly by his host, that he had been a laborious man all his life, and particularly, that he had mown grass one hundred and one years successively—the preceding summer he had been able to perform this labor.

"During this season his utmost effort was a walk of half a mile—in this walk he stumbled over a log and fell—immediately afterwards he began evidently to decline, and lost in a considerable degree, both his sight and hearing; in the summer of 1802, he walked without inconvenience two miles, and mowed a small quantity of grass.—Throughout his life he had been uniformly temperate—ardent spirits he rarely tasted; cider he drank at times, but sparingly. He is naturally cheerful and humorous, and not much inclined to serious thinking. According to an account, which he gave his host, he made a public profession of religion near seventy years before our visit to him. When he was ninety-three years old he made a contract with his host, who told us the story, that he should support him, during the remainder of his life, for £20. Three or four years before this time I saw in a newspaper an advertisement, written by a person who professed and appeared to be acquainted with him and his concerns, in which it was said that his descendants, some of whom were of the fifth generation, amounted probably to more than 1500."

The advertisement, spoken of by Dr. Dwight, may have been the communication published in the "Windsor Gazette," Vt., and copied into the "Massachusetts Spy," printed at Worcester, August 5, 1801, from which the following extracts are made: "In Shutesbury in Mass., there is now living a man by the name of Ephraim Pratt, who was born at East Sudbury in that State on the first day of November, 1687."

"At the age of twenty-one he was married to a young lady by the name of Martha Wheelock; by whom he had six sons and two daughters—four of his sons are now living—the eldest of whom is 90 and the youngest 82 years of age—a few years since Mr. Pratt received a visit from four young persons, who were the grand children of his grand children"—"his diet has been chiefly bread and milk—he has not made a meal of meat for more than forty years past; never taken physic, never was bled, nor did he

- aged 47. He next married Jemima, wid. of Isaac Tomlin, Jr., (not the dau. of Isaac Tomlin, as said in the history of Shrewsbury) May 19, 1741. She was b. 1701, dau. of Supply and Susannah (Barns) Weeks of Marlboro', and m. Isaac Tomlin, Jun., May, 1730, who d. at Westboro', May 19, 1739; being the same day of the same month of their marriage and of her 2d marriage. ever consult a physician"—"he is now 114 years of age—was a widower at the age of 92." "He has rendered himself famous of late for his attention to the fair sex—made suit to many young widows"—"at the age of 105 he formed a connexion with a young lady of 22 years; they were published, and the day of marriage appointed; but owing to the fickleness of youth the connexion was dissolved."

"His love and affection has since been divided among a multitude of the Fair!"

"The public may rely on the authenticity of this sketch, as the writer received his information from indubitable sources, as well as from Mr. Pratt, who is a man of strict veracity, clear intellects, and the most retentive memory." That communication, containing the foregoing and many other remarkables of Mr. Pratt, one of which was that he assisted in building the causeway in Sud., was signed, "A Traveller."

The "Spy" of June 6, 1804, published the death of Mr. Pratt at Shutesbury "on the 22d ult., aged 116 years, 5 months and 22 days," who repeated to a gentleman a short time since a part of a sermon he heard 90 years ago, and the 55th Chapter of Isaiah, and two Psalms."

The "Spy" of the next week contained a communication from the Rev. Dr. Sumner of Shrewsbury, addressed to the printer, in which he says, "In your paper of the 6th inst., we are told of the death of Mr. Pratt of Shutesbury, aged 116 years, 5 months and 22 days; we conclude it was Ephraim Pratt, of whom we were told in your paper of Aug. 5, 1801, that he was then 114 years of age; that he, at the age of 21, married to Martha Wheelock, by whom he had six sons and two daughters. As to his age at the time of marriage, the person whom he married, and the number of his children, the account is doubtless correct—it agrees with the information of the family [in this town] from which he married his wife—the Rev. Job Cushing's record and the town record of Shrewsbury show that that marriage was solemnized July 9, 1724—his eldest child, Tyrus, was born Oct. 1, 1725; Silas, Dec. 28, 1726; Ephraim, Feb. 7, 1728; Noah, Jan. 19, 1729; Micah, April 5, 1731; Abel, July 10, 1732; Rachel, April 24, 1735, and Olive, April 16, 1739. He was probably born 1703—he removed from Shrewsbury to Shutesbury, about 1753, and was 101, or in his 102d year when he died."

This account of the matter, given by Dr. Sumner more than 50 years ago, I have recently seen for the first time, and of which I had no previous knowledge—had Dr. Dwight have known of it when he published his "Travels," he would not have given credence to what he had been informed of Mr. Pratt's age—his "Travels" in that particular have led others, after a lapse of more than 30 years, to adopt as true and give renewed publicity to an error, that has occasioned long and unavailing researches to reconcile it with their knowledge of other things. Mr. Pratt may not, at that interview, have himself deceived Dr. Dwight respecting his age; yet it is difficult to believe that he did not, upon discovering that the Dr. considered him to be much older than he really was, connive at his mistake, and confirm him in his error by not undeceiving him.

He was b. at Sud. Nov. 30, 1704, and was 99 years, 5 months and 22 days old, when he d. May 22, 1804.

This stating of a way to the spring was agreed to and signed by the two brothers, accepted by the proprietors, and recorded in their book, page 10. WILLIAM JENNISON, Modr.

John Rice surrendered, June 6, 1710, to his brother Edmund Rice, by deed, all his right to land "by the spring," and on which some part of Deacon Edmund Rice's house then stood."

It was here their grandfather Edmund Rice first settled after coming to this country. Here was his homestead in Sudbury. This early mention of the spring, and the subsequent "laying out a way to the spring," shows that here was a spring at that time of more than ordinary importance. It is highly probable a knowledge of it induced their grandfather to locate himself near it.

Since that period, more than two hundred years have rolled away, and that spring continues to send forth its gushing waters from a hidden fountain, whence they flow in a crystal stream over a bed of small pebbles to the meadows below. The quantity of water discharged is said to be uniform at all seasons of the year; never frozen in the winter, and in the summer remarkably cold. This spring is on the northern declivity, and near the base of a high and gravelly range of pasture land, in which are many deep, but dry basins, whose formation cannot fail to attract the attention of the beholder. A few rods from the spring is a pleasant grove, in which the aged and the young, male and female, with annual recruits, descendants of the first settler on those grounds, and others connected with them, have annually assembled in September for several past years, unitedly to view and review the place where lived their pilgrim ancestor; to mark its elevations and depressions on the one side, and its broad meadows on the other, through which passes, and for a long distance to be seen, that sluggish stream, known as Sudbury river, that is said to have but twenty-four inches fall in the same number of miles; they walk over the grounds he trod and cultivated, conversing and contemplating upon the privations and hardships he endured, and the dangers to which he was exposed, and contrasting them with the comforts and safety they themselves have freely to enjoy; not forgetting to visit "THE SPRING," and to drink of its pure water, where and of which he drank two centuries and more ago. These gatherings are opened with songs of praise for happy meetings, and closed, after refreshment, with prayers that all may live to meet again.

Such family meetings awaken the best feelings of the human heart—a grateful remembrance of the dead, a kindred sympathy among the living—and call up abundant matter for meditation and reflection. Those who attend them, and rightly improve what they see and learn, cannot fail to go away better men and better Christians.

The following is a copy of an original and introductory hymn, that was sung at one of those gatherings; printed copies having been distributed, all joined with one heart and in one voice in singing:

1. "We seek again the cherished spot,
Where we have met before;
And look for those we learned to love
In happy days of yore.
2. We greet with joy the happy throng
That answer to our call;
But sadness fills our hearts to find
We do not meet them all.
3. But list! we seem to hear a voice
That tells us of the dead;
We trust their spirits still are near,
To guard the paths we tread.
4. Each hill and dale, each shrub and tree,
The purling brook and SPRING,
All tell a tale of other days,
And much instruction bring.
5. 'Tis wise to listen to the past,
Though sad the lessons given;
They turn us from the joys of earth
To endless bliss in Heaven."

Nov. 14, 1718, Edmund Rice and his wife Joyce, "for love and good will, convey unto our son Jason Rice, all of Sudbury," their homestead, viz: "half the house, half the barn, two-thirds of the meadow land, orchard and pastures." Jason was restricted from selling in the lifetime of his father. This deed was witnessed by Daniel Hastings, William Rice and John Sherman. Dea. Edmund Rice d. Sept. 25, 1719, in his 66th year, and only nineteen days after the death of his brother John.

Inventory of his estate, £451.1.0, taken Nov. 19, 1719, by Jonathan Rice, Richard Parks and Edward Sherman. We do not learn what became of his widow. Her father, William Russell, d. Feb. 4, 1661; and her mother, Martha, m. a Hall, and survived him. Her son-in-law, Edmund Rice, settled her estate.

Forbush, Furbush.—This name it is believed does not appear of record in New England prior to 1681.

In that year is found on Marlboro' records the name of Daniel Forbush and Deborah, his wife; previous to that time, and as early as 1660, as appears by Middlesex Co. Records, the name was ffarrabas, and, in 1660, the name of Daniel ffarrabas first appears in those records. He had 2 wives and 8 children, all therein recorded ffarrabases; and himself, according to those records, d. by that name,—yet, in 1681, his name was Forbush on Marl. records—hence it would seem, that the name of Forbush was derived from ffarrabas; and so it undoubtedly was, unless this babel confusion of the name of Forbush was caused by the town clerks of Cambridge, Concord, and even of Marl., in writing the name ffarrabas, instead of Forbush, in their returns to the County Recorder at Cambridge; or caused by that Recorder himself, in not transcribing correctly the names that were therein sent him; among those records, made from frequent returns of town clerks during twenty years or more, the name is uniformly ffarrabas, and the County Recorder was far from being an illiterate man.

Our first information of Daniel ffarrabas is the following: "Daniel ffarrabas and Rebecca Perriman were m. at Cambridge, March 26, 1660, and had there,

The following, probably communicated by the Rev. Ebenezer Parkman of Westboro', appeared in a Boston Newspaper of March, 1768: "Deacon Jonathan Forbes of Westboro' died March 24, 1768, aged 84—father of the Rev. Eli of Brookfield. His sister, (Deacon's sister) Mrs. Rebecca Byles, died at Westboro', Jan. 28, 1768, aged 94, lacking one month; [prob. wife of Joseph Byles of Marl. and West., to whom, then of Marl., Edmund and Ruth Rice of Westboro', in 1708, conveyed house and land lying on the north side of Chauncy pond] a short time before his brother, Samuel, died in his 92d year. A sister is living in her 82d year, and a sister of the half blood, in her 80th year." Of his "sister in her 82d year," we have no knowledge. The "sister of the half blood" was probably a daughter of his mother by Alexander Stewart.

Rev. Eli Forbes, b. Oct. 26, 1726, H. U. 1751, ord. Brookfield, June 3, 1752, m. Mary, b. Sept. 14, 1725, dau. of Rev. Ebenezer and Mary (Champney) Parkman of Westboro', pub. In the publication of his marriage to Miss Parkman his name is Eli Forbush.

Whichever this name was originally, ffarrabas or Forbush, the former has become extinct, and the latter is giving way to change. From Forbush has come Furbush, Furbish, Forbas, Forbus, Forbes, Fobes, &c.

ably his 4th wife. She left in writing her Christian advice, apparently addressed to no one in particular, but intended for the spiritual good of all to whom it might come. In aid of her purpose, and in connection with some account of the family from which she came and of the family with which she was connected by marriage, this opportunity is taken to extend a knowledge of that advice by making it public.

"I leave these lines for you to remember me by. I would have you consider, how near death is come to you; which I should be a means to convince you of your own frailty, the uncertainty of life, and certainty of death; and that our whole eternity of misery or of happiness depends on our behavior here. Therefore we should strive to make our calling and election sure; and you will find that is a hard work, for we are dead in sin. Go not about this work in your own strength; but go to God, for he must work in you both to will and to do, and wait on him in the way he hath appointed. You will find your whole life is not too much for to do this great work in. O, don't put it off any longer, for woe be to that person that death finds unprepared; for as death leaves us, so judgment will find us. Then remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy. Don't spend your time in frolicking, for such things don't please God; remember God sees all you do.

MARY RICE."

- (33) III. GERSHOM RICE [41.8] m. Elizabeth, b. Aug. 16, 1672, dau. of Henry and Elizabeth (Haynes) Balcom, who were m. at Charlestown, Aug. 12, 1666, by Lt. Edmund Goodnow, all of whom were afterwards of Sud.

The marriage of Gershom Rice has not been found. He removed to Groton, Ct., probably before 1698, as the birth of his 2d child is recorded there, Oct. 28, 1698, and the births of four other chil. between that period and 1710.

Nehemiah Smith of Groton, Ct. conveyed, April 28, 1704, lands in that town to Gershom Rice of Groton and "Jonas Rice of Sudbury, Mid. Co., Mass." Gershom and Jonas Rice convey lands there to said Smith and Daniel Lamb, May 19, 1709.

Gershom Rice was residing at Groton, April 1, 1713, as appears by a letter of that date addressed to his wife, from "Elizabeth Balcom to her loving daughter, Elizabeth Rice, living in Groton."

A portion of that letter was for Gershom Rice, Jr., Elizabeth Rice and Matthias Rice, in which she subscribes herself their grandmother, Elizabeth Balcom.

He removed from Groton to Marlboro', Mass. before Oct. 13, 1713; a petition of that date, signed by Gershom and Jonas Rice of Marlboro', was presented to the General Court in behalf of themselves and others, expressing a desire to enter upon a new settlement of Worcester, from which they had been driven by the (Indian) war, and praying for encouragement by the court in their undertaking.

Their request was granted, and then commenced the third and permanent settlement of Worcester; two settlements of that place having been previously broken up by the Indians. Gershom Rice removed there in 1715, and had a grant of 80 acres of land there in 1718. He has been accounted the second settler of Wor., his brother Jonas having been the first.

At the house of Gershom Rice the first meetings were held for religious worship, and his was the first orchard planted in that settlement. Gershom and Jonas Rice were chosen by the proprietors of Wor. "to take care that their petition to the Gen. Court for incorporation as a town be seasonably entered and moved." For a long period they rendered important services to that infant settlement, were its guardians, and have ever been called the "FATHERS OF THAT TOWN."

Gershom and Elizabeth Rice are said to have had seven children. No record or information has been obtained of more than six; nor has a record been found of the death of his wife. The births of his children, the eldest excepted, are on the records of Groton, Ct.

- 244. 6 Ruth, April 11, 1710, m. ——— Adams, and removed to N. H., where he was killed fighting the Indians.

Gershom Rice, as supposed, settled his estate in his lifetime. His son, Gershom, May 30, 1737, the father then aged 70, gave a bond to his father to support him and his mother during life.

His wife, Elizabeth, is said, in the Boston Gazette, to have d. at the age of "about 80." Her age would have been 80, Aug. 16, 1752. His gravestone at Wor. says he d. Dec. 19, 1768, aged 102 years—his exact age was 101 years, 7 mo. and 10 days.

The following is a copy of a letter published in the Boston Gazette, Dec. 26, 1768, of which mention has been made in previous pages:

"Worcester, Dec. 19, 1768.—This day died here Mr. Gershom Rice, who completed the age of 101 years some time last May, besides retaining his reason and understanding in a very good degree to the last. He enjoyed a long and almost uninterrupted state of bodily health; was able, till very lately, to travel on foot a mile or two a day among his neighbors; eat his food with a good appetite, and slept quietly at night without any attendance.

"He was naturally of a very pleasant disposition, very courteous in his behavior towards all, and withal grave and serious. Of late the decays of nature came on him fast; and he went away calmly and quietly at last, expressing his hope and trust in his Redeemer for admission to a better world.

"He was visited, about a year ago, by two gentlemen, to whom he gave the following account of the longevity of his family, which it is thought worth communicating to the public, viz., that his father died at the age of 70; his mother 84; that they had fourteen children, and that, except two that died in infancy, the rest lived to an advanced age—Peter, 97; Thomas, 94; Mary, 80; Nathaniel, 70; Ephraim, 71; James, 72; Sarah, 80; Frances, (lately deceased,) 96; Jonas, 84; Grace, (now living,) 94; Elisha, near 60. The wife of the above Gershom, who d. ten or twelve years ago, was about 80. They lived together in the married state between sixty and seventy years. They had seven children, all now living; some upwards of 70 years old."

They had not seven children living, 1768. Aged descendants of the family, and living 1853, never heard of more than six, and one of them, Elizabeth, had been dead many years prior to 1768, as appears by a letter of Feb. 26, 1744, wherein Gershom and Matthias are named, and also "their sister, Elizabeth, late of Worcester, deceased."

Gershom Rice was about 100 years old when "two gentlemen visited him," and "to whom he gave an account of the longevity of his family." The writer of that letter does not say he was one of the "two;" if he was not, he obtained what he related from somebody else than Mr. Rice, whose account given to the two gentlemen was no doubt a verbal one, for, if he shew them a record of the family, they, if they took a copy of their names, would most likely have taken them (as they probably were recorded) in the order of their births. It does not appear that they saw, or made any record of the account he gave them. The Gazette account was written a year or more after the interview with Mr. Rice, and not unlikely obtained by the correspondent of the Gazette from the memory of others. Of his brothers, we have the respective ages at which they died, as taken from public records, and have been led thus to notice the publication in the Gazette, merely to remove the misapprehensions of some, and furnish information to others.

- (34) III. JAMES RICE [42.9] m. Sarah; b. Feb. 14, 1675, dau. of Daniel and Mary (Ward) Stone of Sud., and resided at Marl., where the births of four of his chil. are recorded. He was of Sud. 1706, whence he removed to Worcester about 1716, and d. there, Oct. 14, 1730, aged 61 yrs. 7 mo. and 8 days—not aged 71, as said in the Boston Gazette. He had 100 acres of land in Worcester granted him in 1718, of which town he was a proprietor.

- (35) III. BENJAMIN ALLEN of Weston m. Frances Rice [43.10]; resided there, and d. Aug. 12, 1721. No record of a second marriage of his widow, or of her death, has been found. She is said, in the Boston Gazette, to have lived to the age of 96 years—if so, she d. about 1767.

When J. Rice removed from Sud. for the first time to

* The parents of Sarah Stone and Mary Stone, sisters, and wives of James Rice and Jonas Rice, brothers, were Dea. Daniel (b. 1644, m. 1667, d. 1719) and Mary, widow of Richard Ward (b. 1635, m. 1661, d. drowned in Sudbury river, 1666) and dau. of John and Elizabeth Moore, all of Sud. Richard Ward was son of Dea. William (b. Eng. 1603, d. 1687) and Elizabeth Ward, who were of Sud. 1639, and removed to Marl. 1660. Dea. Daniel Stone was son of Dea. John (b. Eng. about 1619, d. at Cambridge 1683) and Anne Stone, whose dau., Tabitha, m. John Rice [23.1]. Dea. John Stone was son of Dea. Gregory Stone (b. Eng. about 1590, of Cambridge 1636, and d. there 1672, aged 82.)

In the genealogy of the "WARD FAMILY," page 13, Mary, widow of Richard Ward, is said to have m. Daniel How of Sudbury, instead of Daniel Stone—an

Wor. is not known; he was living at W. in the time of its second settlement, which was broken up and abandoned soon after the commencement of Queen Anne's war, so called, which began in 1702. As the births of all his chil., except the youngest, are on Sud. records, it is probable he returned there when driven from Worcester. He may have resided for a time at Marlboro', but there is no evidence of it on the records of that town.

He returned to Wor., Oct. 21, 1713, where he remained with his family alone in the forest and in solitude until the spring of 1715, when his brother Gershom moved in with his family. Upon the return of Jonas Rice, in 1713, commenced the permanent settlement of Worcester; hence he has been called the "first settler" of that town. He was truly "the father of the town,"—a title disputed by none, but bestowed by all. He officiated in many of the town offices, and in some of them to the close of life. He was appointed, in 1753, one of the justices of the Court of Common Pleas for the County of Worcester, in which office he d. on the 22d of Sept. in that year, aged 80 years 6 mo. and 14 days—not 84 years, as said in the Boston Gazette. That appointment, and his entrance upon the duties of that office at the age of 80 years, are unquestionable evidence that he then retained his mental and bodily faculties in a remarkable degree. He then exceeded, by ten years, the age at which judges in many of the States are required by law to retire from the bench by reason of presumed incapacity, arising from the infirmities of age. His gravestone at Worcester says he "d. Sept. 20th, (town record says Sept. 22d,) 1753, aged 81. He was the first settler in Worcester, and one of the judges of the Inferior Court for Worcester County."

- 265. 5 Adonijah, Nov. 7, 1714 ("first white child b. at Worcester"), m. Persis Gates. (135)

Will of Jonas Rice, July 23, 1853, proved Nov. 7, 1753, gave to wife Mary, to dau. Silence, wife of John Bond, eldest son Jonas, sons Absalom and Adonijah. Son Absalom, Ex'or. Inventory, £200.

error that has been discovered by the will of her father, John Moore, proved 1674, wherein he names his dau. Mary, formerly the wife of Richard Ward, and now the wife of Daniel Stone. The error arose from the name of Stone being converted into that of How in the probate record of William Ward's will, by crossing the two first letters, and omitting the e final of Stone, whereby it became Hon., and was taken for How.

On page 16 of that work, Daniel Stone is said to have m. Mary, dau. of William Ward, instead of wid. of Richard Ward, Nov. 22, 1667. It is now presumed William Ward did not have a dau. Mary.

(37) III. NATHANIEL MOORE, of Sud., m. Grace Rice, [45.12] at Sud., Feb. 10, 1701-2; and, in 1715, removed to Worcester, of which he was "the third settler," and deacon of its first church from its foundation. He had 40 acres of land granted to him there by the proprietors in 1718. He d. there, Nov. 25, 1761, aged 83 ys. 5 mo. and 4 days. The death of his wife is not on record. She survived him, and was living 19th Dec., 1768, at the age of 94.—Boston Gazette.

266 1 Nathaniel, b. 1715, m. Mehitabel, and resided at Worcester, where he d. July 19, 1811, aged 96; and his wife, Mehitabel, April 25, 1809, aged 89. This Nathaniel (says Lincoln's History of Wor.) came into town at the age of three months, and lived respected. In noticing his death, the Massachusetts Spy spoke of him as "a man of exemplary piety and benevolence. He resided in Worcester more than 95 years; being a member of the third family that began the settlement of the town. He lived in the marriage state, with the same wife, nearly 69 years, but left no descendants. He saw this town rise from a state of uncultivated nature to its opulent improvement; witnessed the ordination of five ministers of the gospel within this town, four of them over the same society in succession; saw three houses erected for public worship; three court-houses rising on the same spot, one after another, for the administration of Justice; and three jails, as a terror to evil doers. Thus ended the life of an honest man, the noblest work of God."

His father, Nathaniel, was b. at Sud., June 21, 1678; son of Jacob Moore, (b. April 28, 1645,) who m. Elizabeth Loker, of Sud., May 29, 1667. They d. at Sud.; Jacob, Feb. 17, 1690, and his widow, Elizabeth, the 14th of Dec. next following. The parents of Jacob were John and Elizabeth Moore, of Sud., who had several chil. b. there between 1642 and 1650.

(38) III. ELISHA RICE [46.13] m. Elizabeth Wheeler, of Concord, Feb. 10, 1707-8, and resided at Sud. He was a proprietor of Worcester, and living there in 1719, where he had thirty acres of land granted to him in 1718. The birth of his fifth child is recorded at Wor., whence he returned to Sud. before 1722, where are recorded the births of his other children.

He d. at Sud., intestate, 1761. His estate was appraised the 19th of Oct., in that year, and his son Eliakim administered upon it. The Boston Gazette says "Elisha d. near 60;" whereas, at the time of his death, he was well advanced in his 82d year. He was the youngest of 13 children, of whom a record has been found. 12 of them lived to be married, and have families of children.

A cellar hole, not many years since, marked the spot where his dwelling-house stood, and which was used as a garrison while in his occupation. Worcester records contain no account of his family. When he returned to Marl. is unknown. Two of his sons settled in Wor., and probably inherited his lands in that town. His wid., Mary, d. at M., Dec. 1766, aged 95. They had at Marl.—

Dinah Brigham, Huldah Wheelock, Thankful Rice, Ruth Rice, and Anna Rice. Brother Joshua Rice, and friend Caleb Rice, Ex'ors.

Thomas Rice (family 27) and Edmund Rice were cousins, and, with their families, resided in what is now the westerly part of the village of Westboro, and on the road towards Grafton. "On the 8th of Aug., 1704, as related by Whitney, while some people were engaged in spreading flax a short distance from the house of Thomas Rice, sons of both families being with them, seven or more Indians suddenly rushed from the woods, where they had concealed themselves, and killed Nahor, knocking him on the head. At the same time they seized Silas and Timothy, and two others,—Ashur [205.8] and Adonijah, [206.9] sons of Thomas Rice,—and carried them away to Canada."

We have heard and we have read the thrilling stories of the sufferings and barbarities inflicted by the cruel and ferocious savages upon the defenceless inhabitants of frontier settlements; how they, treacherously and of a sudden falling upon them, roused them from their midnight slumbers, sometimes in the depths of winter, by the deafening cry of the warhoop, and applied the lighted torch to their dwellings, exulting with fiend-like joy at the shrieks of the inmates; how the fires of their dwellings, making glare the objects around them by dispelling the darkness that had enshrouded them, rendered distinctly visible to each other the relentless savages, and the half-naked groups of women and children, who, helpless and frantic with terror, saw the instruments of death before they felt them; how the bloody tomahawk was brandished over their heads with one hand, and the other extended to tare away the scalp, without regard to age or sex of the victim, at the moment of the fatal blow; how such whose lives were spared, were overwhelmed with grief, and sank down in despair, at the sight of mothers, brothers, and sisters, slain and scalped before their eyes; and themselves, if they then escaped death, about to be carried away from home and from friends,—perchance reserved to undergo, at an early day, lingering torments, that would terminate only with the sufferer's death.

The impressions made upon our minds by the knowledge of such events, are deeper and more abiding the nearer to us, in point of time and of locality, they occurred. If the sufferers were our relatives, blood of our blood, still stronger are the impressions and the interest we feel in relation to their sufferings and history. Of the distress and anxiety in the families of Thomas and Edmund Rice, we may venture to imagine,—we can do no more; they themselves, and they alone, realized what they were.

Picture to yourself, reader, the anguish of parents, brothers, and sisters, at the sight of a murdered son and brother, brought into the house and laid before them. Two other sons are missing; killed, or in the hands of ruthless savages, and perhaps suffering tortures worse than death,—at length to be followed by death itself. The remaining inmates in momentary expectation of being themselves taken captive, or of falling under the tomahawk of the infuriated foe, stimulated to further butchery by previous success; no human aid at hand to relieve and protect them. What terror pervades that dwelling! No sleep there; aching hearts and weeping eyes forbid it.

After a few days have past, look in upon that family. Behold the parents, as they sit at the fireside, or at the table, viewing, in silent grief, three vacant seats in their family circle. Three beloved children are missing. See them look into their sleeping-room, whence their innocent prattle, at early morn, was wont to be heard. They find no relief there. Their beds are empty and undisturbed. They see them not, nor do they hear their voices any more.

Silas and Timothy were taken to Canada, where they had Indian wives, and children by them. To Silas, the Indians gave the name Tookanowras. Timothy was named Ought-sorangoughton, and became the third of six chiefs of the Cognawaga tribe. In that capacity, he addressed a speech to Col. Burgoyne, employed in an expedition against Canada, in the French war of 1755, or later; afterwards Gen. Burgoyne, who surrendered himself and his army to Gen. Gates, at Saratoga, in the Revolutionary war.

"Timothy visited Westboro', Sept., 1740, with an interpreter,—himself having lost his mother tongue,—and viewed the place, &c., where he was captured; of which he had a clear remembrance, together with the circumstances under which he was taken; as he also had of several persons then living." Nothing said or done could induce him to remain at Westboro'. He returned to Canada, where he and his brother Silas were living in the summer of 1790.

From a history of the WILLIAMS Family, by Dr. Stephen W. Williams, and published, 1847, we extract the following, which may be interesting to the descendants of Marlboro' (then including Westboro') Rice families, that had children carried into captivity:

Feb. 29, 1704 the town of Deerfield, Mass. was attacked and destroyed by the French and Indians—many of the inhabitants killed, 112 taken captive, and marched for Canada.

Of the former were two children of the Rev. John Williams, the first minister of that town; of the latter were the Rev. Mr. Williams himself and Eunice (Mather) Williams, his wife, and all their surviving children, save one. Mrs. Williams was tomahawked and killed on the march. Of their children taken to Canada was Eunice, born Sept. 16, 1696, and d. in Canada, 1786, "aged 90."

 when he became of age;" "son of Samuel King, alias estate of Milton; "the former guardian had deceased." John

Abigail Rice at Concord, Dec. 4, 1722. She was not Abigail Rice, [64.9] but Abigail Rice of another race; yet, as one or more of her chil. and several of those that descended from them intermarried with the descendants of Edmund Rice, it may not be amiss to give some account of her pedigree in this place, and also of such of the children of Mr. Goulding and herself as have come to our knowledge; inasmuch as we shall have occasion to refer to them in the subsequent pages of this work. She was the dau. of Timothy Rice, (whose father, Richard Rice of Cambridge and Concord, d. June 9th, 1709, aged 100 years,) and Abigail Marrett, who were m. 27th of April, 1687; b. - (81) IV. MOSES RICE [163.9] m. Sarah King at Sud., Nov. 16, 1719, and removed to Worcester about 1722, and opened a public house on the site of one afterwards kept by Capt. Ephraim Mower, and on which was subsequently erected the "United States Hotel."

He was posted at Rutland on garrison duty, with others from Worcester, 1724, under the command of Capt. Samuel Wright of Rutland.

He commanded a company of cavalry while he resided at Worcester, and removed to Rutland, where he appeared of record in 1742. At a town meeting there on the 9th of May in that year, Eleazer Ball, Capt. Moses Rice and Daniel Estabrook were chosen to provide for the ordination of Mr. Joseph Buckminster in that town on the 15th of Sept. following. He conveyed to James Heaton of Rutland, who m. his dau., "a saw mill at Longmeadow Falls" in that town on the 13th of April, 1737; he was then of Worcester, with the title of captain. He purchased 2200 acres of land in the township of Charlemont, April 23, 1743, and removed to that place; the time we do not learn.

He is said to have been its first town clerk; but as that township was not incorporated till 1765, ten years after his death, it is not unlikely he was the Proprietors' Clerk.

Being a frontier settlement it was exposed during the French and Indian wars, and suffered by the ravages of the enemy. June 11, 1755, while Capt. Rice was in his field ploughing among corn, the Indians, lying in ambush, shot him, and at the same time shot and killed outright, Phineas Arms, aged 24, who was at work in the field at that time.

The horse at the plough, being frightened, started suddenly and threw off his rider, Asa Rice, a gr. son of Capt. Moses Rice, aged about 8 years, whom the Indians caught up and carried to Canada. Capt. Rice being sorely wounded, and unable to walk, was taken some distance into the adjoining woods, where he was tomahawked and scalped. Such was his tragical end; being then in the 61st year of his age, and the chief man of the township for counsel in peace and in war.

Having previously been a prominent man in three towns, two of them old settlements, before he removed to Charlemont, he was there looked upon and looked up to, as the head and father of that infant plantation, of which he was the chief promoter, and one of its first settlers. He had collected a great amount of historical matter, comprising an account of many interesting events of which he had been a witness, and in some of which he had borne a conspicuous, and in others, a hazardous part.

His manuscripts were destroyed by fire; whereby his descendants, for whose information he had prepared them, sustained, and not they alone, but the public at large, an irreparable loss, as they contained historical information of men, and of matters and things, relating not only to Charlemont, but to his native town, and others in which he had lived. The eldest of his chil. was b. at Sud., the others at Wor. His wid. Sarah, d. about 1788, at the residence of her son, Aaron, with whom she resided.

Their dau. is not called Barns in the record of her marriage. It is probable the testator interpolated the name of Rice in speaking of her in his will, and that she was expected to take, or at least did take that name in consequence of the bequest he made to her, and out of regard to him therefor. The heirs by will were Lydia How, David Wyman, Submit Barns and Betty Rice Barns.

Heirs at law were Rachel Howe, family (101); Damaris Brigham, family (103); Dr. Ebenezer Rice [618.4], and his sister, Grace Howe; Hazariah (Rice) [609.2] Felton, wife of Jacob, and her sisters, Deborah Howe, Lydia, wife of Noah Beaman, and Mary Howe. Testimony—"he d. the Lord's day, Aug. 27, 1775." "Mrs. Lydia How" claimed dower as the widow of the deceased. Resisted, there having been no marriage, or if one, not legal, &c. "The terms in which he mentioned her in the will implied it, and that he was not of sound mind," &c. "The marriage of Mrs. Lydia was considered legal, and will approved."

Isaac Mixer, who, aged 31, and his wife Sarah, aged 33, and son Isaac, aged 4 years, embarked at Ipswich, Eng., April 10, 1634, in the Elizabeth, William Andrews, master, for New Eng., and settled at Watertown, and d. 1655, aged about 52; his wid., Sarah, d. 1681, probably aged about 80. [See Bond, page 367.]

The 2d wife of Isaac Rice was Thankful, wid. of Ezra Graves, whom he m. April 26, 1769, and d. Oct. 20, 1793, in his 83d year. His wife, Thankful, probably not then living.

- 758. 5 Isaac, Nov. 21, 1749, m. Mary Johnson. (284)

Isaac Rice left a will, duly executed, bearing date July 1, 1784, which was not presented for probate, but is yet preserved in perfect condition. In that he provided bountifully for his wife Thankful; speaks of an agreement between himself and her, before marriage, touching the property of each other, &c. Gave to dau. Anna Livermore; to the chil. of dau. Abigail, late wife of David Rice,—Joseph, the eldest, and five others, not named; all the residue to son Isaac.

Will of Thankful Rice, Oct. 15, 1790, (there is some doubt about its being 1790,) was lodged in the Probate Office within four months after the decease of her husband. She gave "to husband, Isaac Rice, Sen., all demands by virtue of a covenant between him and Dr. Josiah Starr, deceased, and me, before marriage, when I was Thankful Graves, wid. of Ezra Graves;" "to Isaac Rice, Jr., son of my husband." Witnesses, Luther Rice and Ezekiel Rice. She had, by virtue of that covenant, the management and disposal of her separate property during coverture, and did take bonds, payable to herself, for the payment of money during that time.

No action appears to have been had upon her will in Probate Court. She is supposed to have d. a few years previous to her husband; and, being privy to the ample provision he had made for her in his will, if she survived him, made her own will, and unconditionally gave to him "all demands," and to his son, Isaac, all her estate. He was appointed executor of his father's will, and especially enjoined therein to perform all the articles therein set forth, to be done by him as executor for his step-mother, "if he would testify his respect for his aged parent, when deceased."

How much of that he manifested towards them in their life-time, and with what kindness he attended upon them in their old age, may be inferred from her will giving to him all her estate; although she knew, if given to her husband, it would, by his will, descend to the son. It was, therefore, to him something more than a simple bequest of property; it was a testimonial of her regard for him, as being a kind and dutiful son, cheerfully giving, in turn, to aged parents, what they had, in his infancy, bestowed on him; thus adopting him, with all the regard and tenderness of a mother for her own son.

Her will was lodged in the Probate Office, as evidence of her release of all demands upon the estate of her husband, that she or her heirs might otherwise have had "by virtue of the covenant," &c. She was m. to Ezra Graves, June 5, 1766; then being Thankful Bigelow, of Weston, wid. of Joseph Bigelow, who m. her by her family name, Thankful Robinson, July 10, 1755.

* Isaac Stevens, youngest, and Phineas Stevens, eldest sons of Dea. Joseph and Prudence Stevens of Rutland, were taken prisoners by the Indians at Rutland, and their brothers, Samuel and Joseph, slain, Aug. 14, 1723. The prisoners were taken to Canada and detained there more than a year before their father could procure their redemption, and then at an expense that reduced him to want. On their march Phineas (perhaps 14 years of age) when his little brother Isaac (say 5 years old) was tired and could walk no further, used to take him on his back and carry him until rested. Phineas settled at No. 4, (Charlestown) N. H.; Capt., &c., and distinguished himself by his defence of that infant settlement, and otherwise rendered it important services.—See Reed's Rutland.

A letter appeared in a Boston newspaper early in July, 1775, of which the following is a copy, and is introduced here to show the fervor and the spirit of the times at that period.

The battle of Bunker Hill was fought only a few days previous to the event that gave rise to that letter. The blow had been struck; thenceforward, any and every incident, through which patriotism could manifest itself, was made available to swell the tide of popular resistance to British aggression.

“Marlboro’, July 7, 1775.

“The wife of Jabez Rice, Jr. was delivered of two children last week—they were baptized the next Sabbath JOHN HANCOCK and DOROTHY QUINCY!”

1775!—there is something spirit-stirring, something electrifying in that expression—when we hear it mentioned, no matter on what account, an unfading recollection of historical events, inseparable from it, crowds itself upon our willing minds, and is cherished with deep gratitude for the memory of those who aided in achieving our Independence, and for the consequent harvest of blessings, that are enjoyed in our land from the seed sown in blood, 1775.

* She was the dau. of Digory Serjent (so he wrote his name) of Worcester, who probably was a native of Malden. He was a resident of Boston, 1677, and, according to the history of Worcester by William Lincoln, Esq., was one of those who began the second settlement of Wor., and was at the laying out of some lands there in 1685. The next we learn of him is from his will. "March the 17th day, 1696, the last will and testament of Digory Serjent." "I, Digory Serjent, being in my health and strength, and in my perfect memory, blessed be the Lord for it, these few lines may satisfy whom it may concern that I, Digory Serjent, do freely give unto my daughter, Martha Serjent, my house and land, with all the rights and privileges thereto belonging. This house and four score acre lot of land lieth within the township of Worcester. I likewise do give unto her all my goods; one flock bed and bolster, with one rug and two blankets and two coverlets, six froes, one broad ax and one falling ax and one hand saw, one frying pan, one chave, one drawing knife, one trunk and sermon book, that is at Mrs. Mary Mason's, widow, of Boston, with one pewter pint pot, one washing tub, one cow and calf, one mare, three iron wedges, two beetle rings. And if, in case the Lord should see good to take away the said Digory Serjent by death, then I, the said Digory Serjent, do leave these things above written unto George Parmenter of Sudbury, to be disposed of as he shall see good to bring up the said Digory Serjent's child; and if, in case the child should die likewise, then I do freely give my house and land, with all the goods above mentioned, unto George Parmenter forever, and to his heirs, to look after these things and to dispose of them as he shall see cause. In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal the day and year above named. There is one gun too. Digory Serjent and seal. Witnessed by John Keyes and John Witherby. They were residing at Marl. at the date of Serjent's will. Keyes had a few days previous m. Mary Eames, and was afterwards of Shrowsbury—the "famous Major John Keyes." John Witherby or Wetherby at that time had a family of chil. at Marl. He m. Mary Howe of Sud., 1672. Serjent's will was probably executed at Marl. The mother of his child, Martha, had probably deceased, and she was then his only child. Subsequently he m. again, but that he m. a sister or a dau. of George Parmenter of Sudbury is very uncertain, and not reconcilable with what is found on Sud. records. Whoever were his wives has no bearing on his subsequent history and tragical fate in 1703, which is thus related in the history of Worcester:

"Long after the planters had fled from the perils of the conflict that raged around them, Serjent remained, with his wife and children, the solitary occupants of the town—resisting all importunities to seek safety by desertion. During the summer of 1702, his residence was not molested; as winter approached, the committee,

- (243) V. ADONIJAH RICE [640.8] m. Hannah, July 3, 1751, b. 1733, dau. of David and Sarah Crosby of Shrewsbury, and resided at Westboro', from which town he was a soldier in Capt. B. Fay's company, 1757, and received a bounty of £10; also in the war of the Revolution, and belonged to Barns' company, 15th regiment, and on the military rolls alarmed by his situation on the frontier of danger, sent messengers to advise his removal to a place of security. As their admonitions were disregarded, they at length dispatched an armed force of twelve men, under Capt. Howe of Marl., to compel a compliance with the order. At the close of the day, the party arrived at a vacant garrison house, nearly two miles from Serjent's, and halted for the night, which grew dark with storm and snow. In the morning they went onward, and reached the house of Serjent. They found the door broken down, the owner stretched in blood on the floor, and the dwelling desolate. The prints of many moccasins leading westward indicated the course of the murderers' flight. They pursued the trail some distance, when they returned and buried Serjent at the foot of an oak, and returned to the house where they had encamped the night previous.

After the war ended, the Indians revisited Worcester, and declared that six of them had entered that house for shelter from the storm, when they discovered the approach of the English too late to escape, and secreted themselves in the cellar. The soldiers, in the meantime, spread their blankets and laid themselves down,—some of them over the trap-door,—thus unknowingly holding their enemy in confinement until their morning march gave them an opportunity for escape.

It was soon found that Serjent's children were in Canada. On the release of the eldest (Martha), she related the particulars of the fearful catastrophe of which she was a witness. When the Indians surrounded his house, her father seized his gun to defend himself and family. He was fired upon and fell; the Indians rushed in, dispatched him, and tore the scalp from his head. They seized the mother and her children—Martha, John, Daniel, Thomas and Mary—and commenced a rapid retreat. The wife of Serjent, fainting with grief and fear, impeded their flight, and, while ascending the hills of Tatmuck, in the north-westerly part of Worcester, a chief stepped out of the file, and, looking around as if for game, excited no alarm in his sinking captive; when she had passed by, one blow of his tomahawk relieved them from the obstruction of their march.

The children were carried to Canada, and remained there a number of years. Martha was redeemed earlier than her brothers. She married Daniel Shattuck (at Marlboro', Sept. 6, 1719), and returned to dwell on the spot so fatal to her family, as may be inferred from order to the commissioners appointed 1721, to make partition of the inherited lands in Worcester. "If D. Shattuck's hovel made of the stuff of said deceased's old house needs consideration, his brother (in-law) John must allow for it, and also for any other labor the said Daniel has done on the mother lot. It proves equal that he should have, for this year, liberty to enjoy the fruits of his own labor. So, do what is right, as you must be sworn. Francis Foxcroft, Judge Probate, Middlesex."

Of the children, Daniel and Mary chose to remain with the Indians, and adopted their habits; Thomas was at Boston, 1715; John had returned, and appears to have been on the homestead in 1721 and in 1723,—he and Daniel Shattuck were soldiers in Kellogg's company from Worcester. George Parmenter settled Serjent's estate, and returned an inventory of effects."

Sarah Shattuck, wife of Elijah Rice, was b. about 1724, and not far from 37 years of age when she died. The information related by our ancestors of their sufferings from Indian hostilities, and in relating which they gave the particulars not found in history, but of absorbing interest, that occupied many an evening at the winter fireside, when listening children and grandchildren crowded around with open ears, and with open mouths too, that nothing might be lost, will never fail to excite the liveliest emotions in the hearts of their descendants, however remote they may be in locality or descent,—sympathy is the child of affliction, and if one of our relatives suffer, all the members suffer with him. Sarah Shattuck learned the sufferings of her grandparents and their children from her mother. Her children's children and grandchildren yet retain, and relate their recollections of her fireside stories, as they have come down from those that heard them from her lips, and will transmit them to future generations, that they also may know something of the trials of their ancestors in the early settlement of New England, when it was for the most part a wilderness, the abode of savages and beasts of prey.

Her mother told her that the Indians required her to carry her infant sister for two days on their march, when, she becoming troublesome, they took her from her arms, and withdrew from her sight; she never saw her again,—and that, while in Canada, where she was detained seven years, she was compelled to see many prisoners burnt at the stake, the Indians dancing around and making the forests ring with their war-hoop, and telling her that on such a night they should have another dance, when she would be the victim.

In settlement of her administration account, April 30, 1761, she claimed "allowance for supporting Charles, the only child of her husband Rice, 3 years old the 7th of March last, being but one week old at the death of his father." She m. Jesse Burk at Brookfield, March, 1761; and Aaron Bartlett of Brook. became guardian for her son Charles, April 30, 1761.

He was called of "Nitchewoag" (Petersham) in the record of his marriage at Weston.

"Amos Rice and wife Martha and children,

- 1579. 1 Amos and
- 1580. 2 Bathshebah, from 'Nitchewoag,' were cautioned at Sud., April 17, 1755."—Mid. Co. Rec.

"Cautions" were common at that period, and probably were equivalent to the "warning out of town" of incomers by the constable, which by law exempted the town from liability for the future support of such persons in case they became a public charge. The high and the low, the rich and the poor, all had warnings upon moving their residence into another town, or coming in to tarry there for a short time. No offence was taken at such messages from the constable, and they passed unheeded. Yet not in every instance,—for a family of property and good standing came in from another State, who knew nothing of such a practice; and, upon sit-down to abide in one of our towns, was warned, "by authority," and "without a why or a wherefore," to depart the town. The astonished husband laid it to heart, and discoursed inquiringly with his wife what it could mean. She could not imagine for the life of her what it was for! "Have you said or done any thing here to give offence?" quoth she, looking up in his face. "I have done no more than civilly pass the time o'day with people since we have been here." "Well, then, who knows but they think we have got the small-pox?" Thus they queried, but could not account for it. The husband, having laid awake upon it during the night, told his wife in the morning that he was going to pack up his things and go somewhere else, "for this is no great of a place after all!"

Pakachoag was the principal settlement of the Indians in Worcester, and is thus described by Gookin, in his "Historical Collections of the Indians in New England," written by him in Dec. 1674, and published in Mass. Hist. Col. I., 192: "This village lyeth about three miles south of the new roadway that leadeth from Boston to Connecticut; about 18 miles, west southerly, from Marlboro', and from Boston about 44 miles. It consists of about 20 families, hath about one hundred souls therein.

This village is situated upon a fertile hill, and is denominated (Pakachoag) from a delicate spring of water that is there." This homestead has been in the family since the resettlement of Worcester in 1715.

The longevity that prevailed in this branch of the family for several previous generations, and heretofore attracted public notice, has prevailed to an unusual degree in the sixth generation.*

* Allen Rice & Co., in 1831, began manufacturing salt in Sergeant Township, McKean Co., Penn.

In Sept. 1782, 100 picked warriors from a party of 300, made an assault on Rice's fort, situated on Buffalo Creek, Washington Co., Penn., about 12 miles from its junction with the Ohio River, which had only six men to defend it, two of whom were Daniel Rice and Abraham Rice. The fire of the Indians was briskly returned; at intervals they called out to the defenders of the fort, "Give up, give up—too many Indian—Indian too big—no kill."

They were answered with defiance, "Come on, you cowards, we are ready for you. Show us your yellow hides and we will make holes in them for you." After four hours' fighting the Indians withdrew, carrying off their dead and wounded, and shooting the horses, cattle, hogs and sheep, till the place was strewn with their dead bodies. Abraham Rice was wounded in the arm and thigh, but had no bones broken; only one man of the six was killed. For their personal bravery and successful defence of that fort, in which were many women and children, "the names of this Spartan band have been enrolled on the list of heroes of our early times."—See Historical Collections of Pennsylvania, by Sherman Day, page 662.

We have reason to suppose that Daniel Rice and Abraham Rice were descendants of Edmund Rice.

(599) VI. JONAS RICE [1814.7] of Worcester m. Esther Bixby, "between May 1, 1797, and May 1, 1798."—Worcester Records. His grandmother Rice bequeathed to him "the cane and steelyards that were his great grandfather's." Who possess those relics now? They are worth more than some men's autographs, that are selling for $25 and upwards. His gr. gr. father was a just judge, and weighed out to every one his portion with an even beam. The steelyards and his cane, that supported him on his way to and from the temple of justice, are worthy relics, and would be choice emblems for his family coat of arms,—the one, an emblem of the community, supporting him in the discharge of his official duties; the other, of himself, on the seat of justice.

Isaac (b. 1749, m. 1772, d. 1826) and Anna (Brigham) Davis of Northboro'; son of Simon (d. 1754) and Hannah Davis; son of Simon (b. 1683, d. 1763) and Dorothy Davis of Rutland and Holden; son of Samuel (d. 1741) and Mary (Mead) Davis of Concord; son of Dolor Davis, who was of Cambridge 1634, of Barnstable 1640, of Concord 1660, and d. at Barnstable 1673. Farmer says his wife was Margery Willard, sister of Major Simon Willard. No record has been found of the births of his sons, John, Simon and Samuel; two of them, if not all, were b. before their father came to America; at least, before 1634, when he first appeared at Cam., as we should judge from a military roll of 60 or more persons belonging to Barnstable, able to bear arms, 1643—among their names are "Dolor Davis and sons"—all the persons are enrolled by name, excepting the sons of Dolor Davis.

(652) VI. SETH RICE [1979.10] of Northboro', m. Alice Brigham, April 22, 1812, and some little time afterwards, as is said, made a journey to Canada and never was heard of more. His wife (b. 1787) was dau. of Winslow (b. 1756, m. 1781, d. 1837) and Alice (Cushing) Brigham of Northboro'; son of Col. Levi (b. 1717, m. 1745, d. 1787) and Susanna (Grout) Brigham; son of David (b. 1678, m. 2d time, 1709) and his 2d wife, wid. Mary Newton, (maiden name, Leonard,) of Marl.; son of Thomas (b. 1641, d. 1717) and Mary (Rice) Brigham of M.; son of Thomas (Will dated 7 (10) 1653, d. Cambridge, 8 (10) 1653) and Mercie (Hurd) Brigham—his wid. became the 2d wife of Edmund Rice, Sen., and next the 2d wife of Wm. Hunt of Marl. and survived him. (654) VI. ELISHA RICE [1999.4] of Westboro', m. Ruth Rice. Her pedigree is somewhat doubtful; we think, after a careful examination, that she was Ruth Rice, [1445.10.] They were m. at Northboro', where the record is thus—"Elisha Rice of Westboro' and Ruth Rice were m. April 4, 1782." His 2d marriage is recorded at Westboro'—"Elisha Rice and Temperance Wyatt, both of Westboro', were m. Jan. 4, 1785." She d. at Westboro', Aug. 1810; and he, in 1811, in his 56th year—without issue.

He was a soldier of the Revolution and engaged in several sanguinary battles; in one of which he was wounded in the head, and from his shattered skull thirteen pieces of bone were extracted that are yet preserved as mementoes of his daring courage and of his sufferings, and of the righteous cause in which he perilled his life. His revolutionary services, as summed up on the Military Rolls, were "42 months, 5 days, in the Light Infantry." There is no monument at Westboro', to mark the resting place of this brave man and patriot soldier; his services have been forgotten, the fruits of them are seen and enjoyed. He sleeps, unconscious of neglect and of the harvest reaped from labor in part by him bestowed; of the extent of his country, now teeming with eight-fold millions, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, jealous of its rights, and, as in his day, vindicating them with success.

His will, Jan. 7, 1807, proved July 2, 1811, gave to wife Temperance; to brothers Josiah and Joseph, and to sister Hepzibah Hemenway. Inventory, $4512.78.

* Grievous have been her afflictions. The worthy and beloved husband of her youth was taken from her in early life, leaving a family of young children to her care and guidance,—of whom, it will be seen, the sons on whom a widow's hopes so fondly rest for aid and comfort in her declining years, were also taken away by death in early manhood, beloved and esteemed, "having never given their mother cause for grief." A full reliance on Divine Providence has sustained her in all her trials.

OLD AND NEW STYLE.

Style in chronology is the method of computing time according to the Julian and Gregorian calendars.

By the Julian, in the year 325, the time intervening between a vernal equinox and the next succeeding one constituted a year of 365 days, 6 hours; it began on the 25th of March, and contained a fraction more than a tropical year, and in 1582 those fractions amounted to 10 days.

Pope Gregory corrected that calendar in 1582. From that year he abated 10 days, and made the year of such length as to conform, in the future, to the regularity of the seasons, and begin on the first of January—that is the Gregorian calendar. It was readily adopted in most countries; but in England and her Colonies, while partially conformed to by appending the new style to the old, as in double dating, it was not adopted till 1752. Jan. 10, 1676–7, is new style; in the absence of the 7, it is old style. The early settlers of New England more frequently used numerals only in dating,—for May 3, 1643, they wrote 3 (3) 1643, and read it third of the third month, 1643. Double dating ceased in 1752. The difference between old and new style was 11 days till the end of the year 1800—since that time it is 12 days.

Old style is brought into new style by adding 10 days to any date between 1582 and 1701, and one day more to any date between 1700 and Sept. 2, 1752. March 22, 1617, is April 1, 1617, new style.

INDEX TO NAMES.

PARENTS bearing the name of Rice are indexed alphabetically, by the initials of their respective paternal Christian names, and the corresponding numbers (figures in circumflex) by which the several families in this work are consecutively enrolled. By recurring to that number on the left side of the page, and opposite the name of the paternal head, a detailed account of his family may be found.

Others (male) of that name, who have intermarried, but whose descendants are not traced, are severally indexed by the initials of their Christian names, in like order as the preceding, but by the pages only whereon their names and those of their wives may be found.

The family names of those who have intermarried with females of the Rice family, and the descendants of those females, so far as traced, as also those who have intermarried, but have not descendants traced, are indexed by their surnames, and in all other respects by the number of the family, or by pages, as those of the name of Rice.

Exception to the foregoing Explanation.

The individuals composing heads of families named in Appendix, Nos. 1, 2 and 3, are indexed by pages only. Their names are indexed at the close of the several alphabetical lists of Christian and surnames to which they respectively belong.
